Workout data is collected by WIMU, developed by RealTrack Systems. WIMU is a device for the monitoring and measure of the movement, has more than 20 sensors inside and it can be used in conjunction with other external sensors. Training records are saved at CAR in a database. The raw data get processed by a data processor server, converting it into elaborated information. This information is displayed using sports widgets. These widgets (also called Sportwis) offer relevant information to help coaches and athletes in their path for performance improvement. Thanks to this integration of Baseline Components, external sensors, sport widgets and WIMU, the user can access a whole new experience in trainings methodology. What s Experimedia?
